

Phrasal Verbs

transitive		intransitive
separable	inseparable	(always inseparable)
pick up figure out look up call up call back tear off pull away cheer up*	look in on make for get into run out of come out with	pass away pass out find out run out move on come back show up shut in cheer up*

A. Complete the sentences with the correct particle and any pronouns, if necessary.

- If you hear the fire alarm, you must make _____ the exit immediately.
- I don't think this store has what I'm looking for. Let's move _____.
- How many ounces are in a gallon? Let's look _____.
- I called my sister to talk but she was busy, so I'll call _____ later.
- My favorite singer just came _____ a new song! I love it already!
- I'm so sorry to hear that your cat passed _____. You had him for a long time.
- When he dropped his hat on the floor, he stopped to pick _____.
- The store doesn't have any more ice cream. They've run _____.
- My friend is 20 minutes late already! I hope she shows _____ soon.
- This is a really tough math problem. I just can't figure _____.
- Someone stole my watch. They tore _____ my wrist in the subway.
- My kids wanted to touch the hot stove, so I had to pull _____ before they got burned.
- I was a little sad yesterday, so my friend tried to cheer _____.
- My neighbor is out of town so I promised to look _____ her house while she's gone.
- Before you leave, make sure the dog is shut _____ so he doesn't go out and get lost.
- Last summer, I took a cooking class and really got _____. Now I cook for my friends a lot!

ANSWER KEY

A. Complete the sentences with the correct particle and any pronouns, if necessary.

1. If you hear the fire alarm, you must make for the exit immediately.
2. I don't think this store has what I'm looking for. Let's move on.
3. How many ounces are in a gallon? Let's look it up.
4. I called my sister to talk but she was busy, so I'll call her back later.
5. My favorite singer just came out with a new song! I love it already!
6. I'm so sorry to hear that your cat passed away. You had him for a long time.
7. When he dropped his hat on the floor, he stopped to pick it up.
8. The store doesn't have any more ice cream. They've run out / out of it.
9. My friend is 20 minutes late already! I hope she shows up soon.
10. This is a really tough math problem. I just can't figure it out.
11. Someone stole my watch. They tore it off my wrist in the subway.
12. My kids wanted to touch the hot stove, so I had to pull them away before they got burned.
13. I was a little sad yesterday, so my friend tried to cheer me up.
14. My neighbor is out of town so I promised to look in on her house while she's gone.
15. Before you leave, make sure the dog is shut in so he doesn't go out and get lost.
16. Last summer, I took a cooking class and really got into it. Now I cook for my friends a lot!